

Catalog Pages

When you click on a course in the catalog, you will see its Catalog Page. It looks like this:

On the left, you have several items:

1. Open course: If you are a teacher, or a student enrolled in the course, this takes you from the Catalog Page to the Course Page.
2. Open admin: Only admins see this. This allows them to access the backend, where they can make restricted changes to the course.
3. Course name: The name of the course, above the Course Image.
4. Enrollment Options: This has three possible things:
 1. Add or remove from Wishlist
 2. If the course is a recorded course, and the parent is a subscriber, it will show a list of student profiles. The parent can simply click the names to enroll them in the course.
 3. If the course is a live course, they will see a price, possible discounts or penalties, and an option to add the course to their cart. For example:

On the right side of the page, we have a tabbed navigation view, with several tabs.

1. Summary: This shows the course description, as well as course description blocks if the course uses them. For example:

In this course, we will be discussing all of the common pro-abortion arguments and ways we can defend the pro-life stance. You will finish this course feeling much better prepared and equipped as you encounter coworkers or enter into college and start having discussions with people who oppose the pro-life movement. During the last class, you will have the opportunity to practice what you have learned in a debate with your classmates.

Getting the most from this course

- First, read the course materials below before the first class meeting.
- Then, have a notebook ready and available for class notes, for each live session.
- Read assignments before class meetings.
- Watch that week's recording if you need to revisit information from our live session.
- Do the assignments, quizzes, and any extra work assigned for that week.
- Once the course is completed to the parent's and professor's satisfaction, there is a Certificate of Completion at the end to be filled in for your records.

Victoria Cerise

Victoria Cerise, BSN, lives in Cincinnati, OH with her husband. She graduated from The College of New Jersey (TCNJ) with a Bachelor's of Science in Nursing and worked in the Emergency Department as an RN. Now, she uses her medical knowledge to teach science to students to help them learn the beauty of God's design in our lives. She also works as a professional Catholic wedding photographer to help show the beauty of a God-centered marriage within her work. She has been strongly involved in prolife activism since college, and continues to do activism today through her photography and prayers. When not teaching or photographing, she is typically found learning new homemaking skills in one of her favorite places ever: her log cabin home!
